Finalists for 2021 Colorado Companies to Watch Award Announced
Winners to be Named at 13th Annual Gala Awards Ceremony

Denver, CO – Colorado Companies to Watch (CCTW) today announced the finalists for its 2021 Colorado Companies to Watch Award. The CCTW Award honors 50 high-performing second-stage companies from across Colorado for their contributions to the state’s economy through job and revenue creation, innovative products and services, and philanthropic efforts.

A second-stage company is one that has moved from the startup phase and into a period of growth. This year’s awards program attracted 1,100 nominees from throughout the state. The program was founded in 2009.

“The 2021 Colorado Companies to Watch Finalists reflect the state’s most creative and influential enterprises,” said Toby Armitage, CCTW Chairman of the Board. “We are excited to be awarding these exceptional 2nd stage companies and support their continued growth and prosperity. It is important that the accomplishments of these companies, and their contribution in generating the majority of economic growth throughout Colorado, be recognized and applauded.”

The finalists represent Colorado’s diverse economic landscape. Combined, they have a significant impact on the state’s economy, providing millions of dollars in revenue and creating thousands of jobs. Award-winning companies will play an important role as the state recovers from the COVID-19 economic downturn.

A select panel of volunteer judges will choose the 50 award-winning teams from the list of finalists. CCTW will announce the winners later this summer at its 13th Annual Gala Awards Ceremony.

The 50 companies selected each year make an astounding impact on Colorado's economy by collectively providing thousands of jobs and contributing millions of dollars in revenue. The Colorado Office of Economic Development and International Trade (OEDIT) launched the program in 2009 in conjunction with the Edward Lowe Foundation and valuable community partners from across Colorado.
