2021 Colorado Companies to Watch Award Winners Announced

Winners to be Honored at 13th Annual Gala Awards Ceremony

Denver, CO – Colorado Companies to Watch (CCTW) is pleased to announce the recipients of its 2021 Colorado Companies to Watch Award. This year, CCTW is honoring 50 companies at its 13th Annual Gala Awards Ceremony Oct. 22, 2021 at the Hyatt Regency Denver at the Colorado Convention Center.

Colorado Companies to Watch is a unique statewide awards program that recognizes high-performing second-stage companies that fuel the state’s economic fire. A second-stage company has moved out of the startup phase and into a period of growth.

Many previous winners of the CCTW Award are now household names, including Left Hand Brewing Company (2010), PopSockets (2017) and Velocity Global (2017).

CCTW Award winners represent Colorado’s diverse economic landscape and come from a broad range of industries. Combined, they have a significant impact on the state’s economy, provide millions of dollars in revenue and create thousands of jobs. Award-winning companies play an important role in the state’s recovery from the COVID-19 economic downturn.

“Congratulations to all of the Colorado Companies to Watch award winners! Xcel Energy is proud to sponsor this organization, which helps fuel economic growth and supports entrepreneurs in our great state. We’re excited to see all that you will accomplish, and we’re working alongside you to bring Colorado the cleanest, most affordable and reliable energy,” said Xcel Energy-Colorado President Alice Jackson.

Xcel Energy is the Presenting Sponsor of Colorado Companies to Watch.

A select panel of judges chose the 50 award-winning companies from a list of 68 finalists. This year’s award program attracted 1,100 nominees from throughout the state.

Hall of Fame Awards Presented

E2 Optics, a 2014 CCTW Award winner, and 2009 Award winner Otterbox are also receiving CCTW’s 4th Annual Hall of Fame Award at the event. CCTW selected the companies for exhibiting the highest levels of business achievement and leadership and for making extraordinary contributions within their industries. Both companies continue to create innovative new products, expand their contributions to their communities and have grown past the second stage with year-over-year employee and sales growth.
