Finalists for 2022 Colorado Companies to Watch Award Announced

Winners to be Named at 14th Annual Gala Awards Ceremony

Denver, CO – Today, Colorado Companies to Watch (CCTW) announced the finalists for its 2022 Colorado Companies to Watch Award. The CCTW Award honors 50 of Colorado’s most innovative, successful second-stage entrepreneurs who are actively growing their business and expanding their network. Because of their contribution, they are helping to expand the economy, bring in new wealth through investment, generate new job opportunities, create innovative products and services, and participate in philanthropic efforts.

While each business is unique, small local businesses have one thing in common; they are very important to our community. In addition to creating jobs, they contribute to the quality of life and availability of amenities that make the community a more desirable place to live and work. Many of these second-stage companies can help generate up to 50% of all innovation within our economy and are now playing an important role as the state recovers from the COVID-19 economic downturn.

“To get this far in the process, means that our Finalists have been selected from over a thousand Colorado second-stage companies nominated by CCTW’s vast community of supporters, partners, and business peers,” stated Kim Woodworth, CCTW Chairwoman of the Board. “Through a time-honored rigorous judging process, our finalists represent the most innovative and accomplished second-stage companies. Not only are they expanding and employing Colorado’s talent but giving back significantly to non-profits and charity organizations supporting our vibrant economy. CCTW recognizes these companies for the crucial economic impact they make on Colorado’s economy.”

These second-stage entrepreneurs have the greatest impact on job creation and economic prosperity. We recognize them for their vision, drive, and belief in building a stronger Colorado.

A select panel of volunteer judges will choose the 50 award-winning teams from the list of finalists. CCTW will announce the winners on June 17, 2022, at its 14th Annual Gala Awards Ceremony. Tickets go on sale soon.
